"Those juggling exercises sure are working wonders, George... I've never before seen you with such a hungry look in your eyes!"

JUDY BOSCOMBE says That The Best Racing Form Is The Girl Who Is Late For Work!

"It should be a fun party... everybody's coming dressed as they were twenty-five years ago!"

"That kind of information will require a down payment of $50.00!"

"I appreciate your short visit, but I'd love it more if you could make it longer!"

"I changed my mind; I don't want your money after all!"

"On second thought Miss Clodd, looks out of balance is better than no balance at all!"

"Let's go, Ed—this is where we came in!"

"The only trouble with all that skin, Horace, is that you get me confused!"

"I think there's been a misunderstanding—all I want is a drink of water!"

"I thought you said he probably didn't know how to write!"

"The Boss watches the oil wells; I watch the wishing

NATURAL OBSERVER: ADELE ATTOLI 'A man can fool all women some of the time, and some women all the time, but what bothers a man most of all is why he can't fool the same woman the same way, all the time!'

WALLPAPER

"Here's one especially designed for the man who has trouble getting back to sleep when his alarm clock rings!"

"He has his father's eyes!"

A Miss And A Reminisc: We were steaming out of Athens, when a wise guy murmured low, "What's that white stuff on the mountains?", and the Captain answered "Snow!" Then the wise guy softly chuckled, till I thought he'd never cease; "That's just what I thought," he whispered, "but another fella said that was Greece!"

On a first date a guy should be highly suspicious if his girl is on time. She's probably forgotten to put something on that he shouldn't know about!

"I don't know why you always buy me new clothes. I never get a chance to wear them!"

"I was seduced by a villainous landlord who threatened to foreclose on our property, then I went hunting for the man who held the second mortgage!"

"But, Boss—I wasn't whistling while I'm working—I was only whistling!"

"I like to think we're all put on earth for some good reason—especially you, Miss Bartlett!"

"You'll be ready for a horse before you know it!"

"What's the excuse this time—and it better be good!"

"That merely means we have well-constructed tables!"

"Must you always bring your work home each night?"

"Next quarter is my turn to stamp her interest dividend!"

"Look, honey, I know you're tired. The Doctor suggested we have intercourse on days with an 'R' in it. So what are you waiting for...today is Monday!"

"Folks say we come from monkeys; I admit they ought to know, and yet, despite their wisdom, I doubt if this is so! Whenever I get to thinking of humans, I'm sitting on a tack; it seems to me we came from geese, because we fall for a lot of quacks!"

"My husband is just a wet blanket when he's around home, but he sure changes when he gets out."

"How do you know?"

"The other night I caught him being quite a comforter to that cute little blonde across the street!"

"You'll simply have to get used to the fact that I'm never ready on time!"

"If you won't tell me where we're going on our date, I won't finish getting dressed!"

"If ya join up wit' our organization ya get security and a lot of other benefits like hospitalization, extended medical coverage, life insurance wit' double indemnity, vacations and holidays--of course, ya still gotta steal ya own food an' likker!"

A Broadway bookmaker was given a parrot in lieu of a cash payment by one of his 'clients.' This was not an ordinary parrot, but one that in addition to a fluent vocabulary in English, spoke French and Spanish.

On this particular day the bookie had the parrot with him as he visited one of his favorite taverns, and he proudly announced the bird's accomplishments to the bartender.

Being used to such wild claims, the bartender did not seem impressed with the bird. Finally the bookie offered to bet the bartender $50 that his parrot could speak to him in three different languages. The bet was quickly made.

"Parley-vous francais?" said the bookie to the parrot.

There was no response.

Nor did the parrot respond to questions in English or Spanish, and the bartender pocketed the $50.

Back on the street the bookie was giving the parrot hell in three languages. "What a stupid worthless bird! You just cost me $50 because you turned temperamental."

"Don't be a jerk," replied the parrot. "Just think of the odds you'll be able to get in that joint tomorrow!"

"You're rich and lonely and I'm friendly and understanding—small world, isn't it?"

REAR ADMIRABLE:
LEE CARTER

"You didn't marry me for my cooking, but a bachelor always knows from where his next meal is coming!"

"He owns a chain of wells from coast to coast!"

"It will never sell—too much Vermouth!"

GOOD CREDIT RATING

Jessically eyeing her next-door neighbor's new mink stole, the young wife asked how she had been able to afford such an expensive item. "You probably won't believe it," her neighbor replied, "but I saved up the money by charging my husband five dollars every time he had love." That night, when her husband tried to fondle her, the young wife, determined to get a mink of her own, promptly stuck out her palm and demanded five dollars. Fumbling through his trousers, the husband complained that he had only $4.50. "For $4.50," she rejoined stubbornly, "you can only sample my affection!" After several minutes of extensive sampling, however, the aroused wife realized she would not be able to treat her husband's advances much longer. In a final attempt to maintain her newly acquired bargaining position, she whispered in his ear, "If it's all the same to you, dear, why don't I lend you fifty cents until tomorrow?"

"And now, Sandy, I suppose you're just dying to know why I took you from our typists' pool and brought you 2000 miles to the Riviera!"

"When my date saw the check coming, he knocked me over and ran for the door!"

...his mouth was hot and furious and passionate on hers. She almost swooned at the wonder of that kiss. She forgot all about why he was kissing her, and just gave him back his kiss with all the ardor of her loving nature..." from Where Do We Go From Here

It was a sad and wasted evening
When Sgt. Rider returned from the War
Never has a situation
Like this occurred before

For three long years she waited
Had ideas of what to do,
But never had any lovers
Though she had met quite a few

So tormenting for the bride,
So beautiful and trusting:
And it wasn't any pleasure at all
Just laying around and rusting.

Listen! I hear footsteps!
At last, he was back again
And he was honest and faithful as can be,
Now that he was back again,
But the dummy had lost the KEY!

"Thanks for the party invitation, but I can't make it tonight...but you may come and try to change my mind!"

"I'm very self-conscious wearing glasses and if I dress this way, no one will notice them!"

Wicked Lady Jane, a historical relative of Lady Godiva, rode through the streets of London protesting the high taxes and detesting the Tax Collector. Lady Jane used a motorbike, and as she approached the Palace, the Prince's cortege was pulling out. She caught the Prince's eye, but wouldn't give him a tumble.

"...I dreamed I was auditioning for a part in the Folies Montmartre..."

There's no frustration that never can match, the thrill of having an itch you can scratch!

"Names don't mean anything to me anymore;
describe it to me!"

"You really are a gambler; okay! I owe you 24 coconuts...deal again!"

The hotel bellhop escorted the lady and man up to their room, made them comfortable, then turned to go.

"Anything else, sir?"

"No, thanks," said the man.

"Anything for your wife, sir?" the bellhop asked. The absent-minded man said, "Why, yes, come to think of it; bring me a postcard to send her!"

"I was not getting fresh with her, Officer—I'm a professional pickpocket!"

"Darlene is a great fourth for bridge—no one ever pays attention to the hands!"

"And you told me you erased the fingerprints?"

"Well, you just tell Goldilocks to get the hell out of your bed!"

YE DOLL: ANNETTE CASIRI
"The sea of matrimony is filled with men overboard!"

"It's a waste of time putting on all those undergarments; they're all coming off anyway!"

"Well, there are certain things you can't file and forget!"

"Look, stupid; don't you think I've got any better sense than to go around insulting big oafs like you!"

The groom asks the best men if there is any sure test of his bride's virginity, and is told to take a tube of red paint and a tube of blue paint, and a boxing glove along on their honeymoon. "Paint one bell red and the other bell blue, and then if the bride says 'that's the funniest pair of bells I ever saw', hit her over the head with the boxing glove!"

"Close your eyes and open your mouth!"

"The Doctor's treating your wife's nympho-mania; she will need just one more injection!"

"I brought a friend, incase you're too tired or have a headache!"

"Now that we understand each other's language, do we or don't we?"

"Young lady," said the psychiatrist, "as of this moment you can consider yourself cured."

"Wonderful," she thrilled, "can I reward you for your skillful treatment with a good-bye kiss?"

"Heavens no," he demurred, "it would be quite against the ethics of my profession."

"Well, at least let me give you a big hug."

"Sorry, I really can't allow it. As it is, I shouldn't be lying here on this couch with you!"

Wishing to pay his friend a compliment, a gentleman remarked, "I hear you have a very industrious wife."

"Yes," replied his friend with a very melancholy smile, "she is never idle—she is always finding me something to do!"

"You see what their plan is in teaching us to read!"

something wrong with her hair style!"

Girls who wear glasses.
Have lovely asses!

"I can't help you, Miss—this isn't my table!"

Dick: "I've heard that there are always a lot of beautiful girls trying to break his deer down."

Don: "There are, but the only trouble is that it always happens when he has them locked in his room!"

"Like I said, Mr. Nolan, the only time I get a rise out of you is when we use the elevator!"

"What's the idea tearin' down the street wide open?"

Guy: "Whisper three little words that will make me walk on air."

Gal: "Go hang yourself!"

Smith was enjoying his Latin vacation ... to the music of guitars, he moved closer to the señorita he had just met, and murmured, "Where can I get hold of you?"

"I do not know, señor," she responded softly, "I'm awfully ticklish!"

"I'm surprised to see you in your 'soup and fish,' Harold—I thought tonight you were going to talk turkey!"

"I'm going to open the door and create a draft—the air current will do the rest!"

Miss Fitt was an actress,
Who thought that she was it;
Her new play flivvered badly,
And she failed to make a hit.
The critics said her efforts
Were bad from first to last,
Because, in their opinion,
Miss Fitt had been miscast!

"Wow! Miss Harley—the faster you mix my drink, the better it will be for both of us!"

"Must you talk about love at a time like this?"

"With this number we include a matching pipe!"

"I simply demanded the model exactly as advertised!"

"That isn't necessary, Glancy!"

"I'm afraid my curiosity is getting the best of me, Mr. Griffith!"

CHURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY

The mother was greatly concerned over the fact that her daughter seemed to awaken each morning feeling ill. She would have headaches, no pep, and generally present a run down appearance.

"Does your daughter drink anything before going to bed?" inquired the doctor.

"All that she drinks," replied the worried mother, "is a glass of milk."

"Aha!" exclaimed the M.D., "no wonder the poor child wakes up feeling badly each morning. If your daughter drinks milk before retiring, she goes to sleep and tosses from side to side. The milk turns to cheese, with all that tossing, and the cheese turns to butter with continued tossing. The butter turns to fat, and the fat turns into sugar. Naturally the sugar turns into alcohol, so what is happening is that your daughter is waking up each morning with a hangover!"

Last Sunday she wore a new sacque,
Low cut at the front and the bacque,
And a lovely bouquet,
Worn in such a cute wust,
As only a few girls have the knaque!
Some day, ere she grows too
antique,
In marriage her hand I shall sique,
If she's not a coquette,
Which I'd greatly regrette,
She shall share my $90.00 a wique!

Man: "Yes, I'm the owner of the Elite Bar. Stop telephoning me at four o'clock in the morning. I've told you three times we open up at 8 ayem. You positively can't get in until then!"

Caller: "Who wants to get in?
I want to get out!"

"Try to understand, Mr. Otis—you never had to go to bed hungry!"

REAR ADMIRABLE

Kirk

"You pulled a lot of strings to get where you are... so enjoy your success!"

Nora: "When I ask my bridegroom to hook up my dress in the back, he fumbles around like he was all thumbs."

Dora: "He's just like all men. They sure don't have any trouble when they're taking them off!"

A girl with a tight dress can usually leave a man breathless.

"Maybe that will teach you to call me a crackpot!"

"Run an audit on Hamsley's books—he has no reason to smile on what we pay him!"

"I can't go to the concert tonight, Harold—my Nature Lovers' Club is meeting here now!"

No Bore some Foresome!

Chocolate moussé, Strawberry, or Pineapples moussé, are only some of the flavors that find their mark when Maureen, Carole, and Jack decide to strip off and hurl fruit sundaes between the sexes, to find the "best flavored body" of the year. The action takes place at the squash court and ends in the swimming pool, to finish several hours of good, clean, fun!

Contestants arrive at gaming grounds and welcomed by Jack.

The amino is laid out. Get your mark! Get Set! Come On!

One chocolate moussé coming up... and all over!

Jack almost gets away... Try this pud on your mud, bud!

Actual close-up of moussé and mouse on contact!

Jack the Jack joyfully jumps into pool during Maureen and Carole chlorine clean and tastefully sizzling!

"Yes, Vic, I believe in the motto, 'Love Thy Neighbor...and the quicker the better!'"

"There goes George Whoofleberry. He's one of the greatest halfbacks that ever lived."

"I didn't know he played football."

"He doesn't. He always pays back half of what he borrows!"

"When a fella is in love, his heart is either exceeding the speed limit, or slowing down for curves!"

"Poor Mr. Swedge—people are always imposing on him!"

"Mr. Galsworthy says he couldn't wait—the flowers needed water immediately!"

"How about you driving for a while, Millie?"

One brisk and windy evening an English policeman was walking through a park when he saw a couple sitting on a bench.

"Airy, isn't it?" he said pleasantly.
"No," replied the girl, "Charlie!"

Farmer: "Hey! How is it I never find you fellows working when I come out here in this field?"

Hired Hand: "Well, it's on account o' you sneakin' up on us!"

"I'm hard to convince, but try to sway me...any way you want to!"

"I'm not going to propose a toast!"

"Your references are okay—now for the acid test!"

A guy went into a bar and yelled to the hookers at the bar, "I'll give any girl here $200 if she'll do it my way." One girl immediately volunteered and they went to her apartment to make love. When it was all over the girl said, "What was so different about your way?" The man replied, "My way is that I owe you the money."

"How do you suppose I've been supporting you in the manner to which you warant accustomed!"

"Who goes there?"

"I said 21—19—73, Denly.... NOT 37—21—36!"

Mayor: "Oh, I can't accept this beautiful new Cadillac from your company, Mr. Brown, just because the city happened to give you that big road building job. That is, I can't accept it for nothing. Let me at least make a token payment for it, and I'll feel better about taking it. Suppose I give you this fifty dollar bill for the car."

Brown: "Well, all right, Mr. Mayor, if it will make you feel any better about accepting it. But you gave me a $100 bill. I don't have the change right now but I'll send it over this afternoon."

Mayor: "Oh, don't bother going to all that trouble. Instead, keep the hundred dollars—and get my wife a Cadillac, too!"

"We're in deep trouble if you puncture it!"

"Instead of getting ulcers by running around like the well-known fox in a forest fire, the modern man could probably get along much better and gain more if he would conduct himself like a duck—be completely unruffled on the surface, but paddling like heck underneath!"

"This is one helluva time to go into transcendental meditation, Gloria."

"Sweetheart," said the young man to the young miss in the moonlight. "I'll love you till the cows come home."

"All right," said she, moving away, "but in the meantime, stop horsing around!"

"We're not questioning you, Madam, but we must insist on a thorough search of your dogs!"

"Now I see why your light bills are so low—you always keep up your shades!"

WITH CLAWS

She screamed, "It's so big and red and fiery looking! I'm almost afraid even to touch it, let alone eat it!" But he coaxed her, "Go ahead, honey child, they never hurt anybody. Lots of people eat boiled lobsters!"

The smart bride is one who waits until she is carried across the threshold before putting her feet down...then up!

"They say patience is a virtue, but I lost all of it!"

"You know, Harold—it's so wonderful to know where I can find you when I want you!"

"Quick—hide in here, Miss Ames—my wife is on her way in—better safe than sorry!"

"Of course you're sexy; you must be the one who is always rushing to be first at these parties."

Elvin: "I like that waitress. She always gives me tiptop service."

Melvin: "Really knows her business, huh?"

Elvin: "Yeah, she always lets me put the tip in the top of her pantyhose!"

Goosey-goosey gander,
Whither did you wander?
Up stairs and down stairs
And in my lady's chamber.
What did you see there?
I wouldn't like to say,
For I wouldn't want to give
The sweet young thing away!

"I got the recipe out of a detective story I'm reading—it's something called a 'Mickey Finn!'"

"Okay—we've got the staples—ice cream, chewing gum, pistachio nuts, tobacco, beer and pretzels—now let's get the groceries!"

Gazehound: "I understand that you completed a session in Encounter Therapy. Did it bring back faith in mankind?"

Linda: "No, but it complicated it considerably!"

"We had a great strip poker game last night; he had a royal flush, but but my sex flush wiped him out!"

"Hold it right there, George—the picture is fine!"

"When you said you want to turn things over in your mind, you weren't kidding!"

"Harold goes all out in his bird-watching!"

"You are NOT going as a French poodle!
Now trot back upstairs and take off my fur jacket and muffs!"

"Why do you lower your eyes when I say 'I love you'?" the young man asked the attractive girl in the nudist camp."
"To see if it's true," she replied.

"Boy, I'm beat today—I didn't get to sleep until after four!"

"Maybe this will help"
